Holy Communion

The Sacrament is offered in both kinds, both bread and wine. If you choose not to receive the wine, please fold your arms X, and remain at the rail to hear the words of administration. If the rail is full to the middle, please go as far to the left as possible before you kneel so that others will not have to walk over your legs.

Anthem O Thou the Central Orb Charles Wood

O thou, the central orb of righteous love, Pure beam of the Most High, eternal light Of this our wintry world; thy radiance bright Awakes new joy in faith: hope soars above. / Come, quickly come, and let thy glory shine; Gilding our darksome heaven with rays divine. / Thy saints with holy lustre round thee move, As stars about thy throne, set in the height Of God's ordaining counsel, as thy sight Gives measured grace to each, thy power to prove. / Let thy bright beams disperse the gloom of sin: Our nature all shall feel eternal day In fellowship with thee, transforming day To souls, erewhile unclean, now pure within. Amen.

* The Conversion of St. Paul from The Crown of the Year by Austin Farrer, weekly paragraphs on the Holy Sacrament.

The Gospel shows us that we follow a very old custom, when we start our guests with sherry, and then put them off with vile mixtures. It did not happen at the Cana wedding, because our Lord and God himself replenished the wine, and it is not his custom so to treat his guests; he keeps the best wine until last. It was in the end of his dealings with Israel that he brought them his life-giving blood, and it was in the end of his earthly days that he mounted the cross and poured it out. We drink it week by week at his altar, but it keeps its best savour until the last. If you are faithful, the love of God will be stronger in your veins next year than this. It takes no staleness from the passage of time and, says Jesus, I will drink it new with you in the Kingdom of God.

Sometimes we need some road signs to help us see our way forward. That can be true of reading the Bible too. Have you ever wondered about the books of the Bible? What each one is about and how they came together?
